

ADMIRAL PORTER ILL.

The Venerable Naval Officer Said To Be Dying.

HIS CONDITION CAUSES ANXIETY

The distinguished hero's mind is clouded and a relapse may be expected at any moment—Decision by the Interstate Commerce Commission—An important meeting of the cabinet.

WASHINGTON CITY, Oct. 17.—Admiral David D. Porter, it is believed, has but a few days to live. For the last few days his condition has been such as to cause his friends much anxiety, although little has been said about it. The admiral has been at his summer place near Newport for several months, and has been in a more or less feeble condition all the time, his age being now nearly four score years. It was deemed necessary to bring him south without further delay, and ex-Surgeon General Philip F. Wales, of the navy, who has attended the admiral for the last twenty years, went on to Newport and brought the distinguished naval hero here. The fatigue and excitement of the journey made his condition considerably worse, and when the party arrived here Wednesday night the family were very much alarmed.

WASHINGTON CITY, Oct. 17.—The admiral was in a semi-comatose state, and although conscious at intervals, his mind was not altogether clear. About noon he improved enough to warrant a surgical operation to remove a slight complication. The operation was successful. Friday morning he was resting easily, but his mind was clouded and a relapse may be looked for at any moment. The admiral is now in his 78th year. About a year ago he had an attack which caused his life to be despaired of, and until recently seemed in fairly good health.

WASHINGTON CITY MISCELLANY.

The Extra Session Question.—WASHINGTON CITY, Oct. 17.—From the character of conversations that the president has had with several congressmen who are now in Washington, it would seem that he has not come to a conclusion on the extra session question. Within the past few days congressmen, who have called on the president, have been urged by him to give their views for or against the advisability of issuing a call, according to the individual positions they occupy. One prominent representative told the president that he was against the proposition, and he was positively pressed to state his reasons, entering into quite a discussion on the subject with the president. He says that he was led to believe from the president's manner that the latter wanted to see congress in session again as soon as possible after the congressional elections.

A Commerce Commission Decision.

WASHINGTON CITY, Oct. 17.—The interstate commerce commission, in the case of the Chicago board of trade, complainant, vs. the Chicago and Alton Railroad company and seven other railroad companies, defendants, has rendered a decision. The commission has ruled in favor of the Chicago board of trade, and has ordered the railroad companies to make the same rate on packing companies and eighteen other packing companies, and the board of railroad commissioners of the state of Iowa as intervenors, Thursday decided in favor of the board of trade of Chicago. The commission ordered the defendant railroad companies to make the same rate on live hogs as on packing house products from Missouri river points in the states of Iowa and Missouri to Chicago within four weeks from the date of the order.

WASHINGTON CITY, Oct. 17.—Assistant Secretary Spaulding has written a letter to the collectors of customs on the Canadian border informing them of the action of the Canadian government in taking off the export duty on lumber or lumber of any kind whatsoever after Oct. 18. ARREST OF KING KEL.

He Is Charged with Keeping a Gambling Room in New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Mike Kelly, the $10,000 base ball catcher, was arrested Thursday night as one of the proprietors of a gambling den. Mike and his brother John keep a saloon at the northeast corner of Sixth avenue and Thirty-first street. The police have long suspected that there was a gambling room upstairs, but the proprietors were too sharp to let them get any evidence. Acting Capt. Schmittberger strolled past the place about 10:30 o'clock Thursday night and thought he would see for himself what the place was like. He was unwittingly admitted by the doorman.

Mike Thinks It Is "Dead Wrong."

About twenty men were seated about a table that was littered with cards and money and poker chips. They sprang from their chairs and, rushing for their coats and hats, dashed out of an opposite door. They left behind them several packs of cards, $50 in bills and silver and $400 in chips. Schmittberger pocketed them and then arrested Mike Kelly. "They were not gambling," Mike cried; "they were simply playing whist." The sergeant laughed, took the ex-base ball player to the Thirtieth Street station, and consigned him to a cell. He went protesting that his arrest was "dead wrong."

Kelly had a hearing Friday morning and was discharged for lack of evidence.

ROBBED OF A LARGE AMOUNT.

A Wisconsin Merchant "Held Up" by Toughs in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—George H. Bott was robbed of over $800 in cash and a check for $8,000 Thursday night. Bott, who claims to be a merchant at Waterloo, Wis., is 76 years old. He reached Chicago at 9:30 o'clock Thursday night on a Rock Island train. He had gone but a short distance from the Van Buren street depot when he lost his way. He wandered to Harrison and Clark streets, and there asked two men where he could find a reliable ticket office. The men led him to Taylor street and Pacific avenue and there garroted him, taking from him a certified check on Mitchell's bank of Milwaukee for $5,000 and all the cash he had. Bott made his way back to the depot and reported his loss to the watchman, who in turn reported it to the police. The officers, with the old man, started out on a search through the "levee" district. Payment on the check was stopped by telegraph.

The Ohio Legislature.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 17.—The board of public improvements compromise bill was read a second time Friday morning. Griffin, Republican, of Lucas, introduced the bill to abolish the Cincinnati decimal board. This is the bill which was smothered in the senate the other day. Senator Corcoran's resolution to appoint a committee to investigate the Cincinnati municipal government was called up by Prime. The bill then adjourned. Senator in the senate reintroduced the Gaumer bill abolishing the board of public improvement. If the compromise bill fails in the house this bill is almost certain to go through both branches by the aid of the Republicans minority. It is looked upon as a good sized catch which the Democrats propose to build over the heads of their Cincinnati brethren.

Seizure on Board.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 17.—The ships R. R. Thomas, Capt. Coulson, from New York, and Alexander McCullum, Capt. O'Brien, from Baltimore, which arrived here Thursday last, were seized on board. On the Thomas there were four cases and seven on the McCullum. On the McCullum the men were in a horrible condition, their bodies being covered with running sores and their gums black and swollen. The sailors say that during the voyage of 154 days they had not tasted vegetables of any sort and the most given was putrid. Two of the men, James Masure and Thomas Hayes, as a result of the disease had become blind. During the voyage of the Thomas Second Mate Cooper was lost overboard. The cases will be reported to the United States authorities by the quarantine officers.

Heermann, a ranchman at Cambridge, Kan., was recognized by Wilson as he was leaving a restaurant near the stock yards, and refusing to stop was shot by Wilson. Jail Delivery at Athens, Ohio.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 17.—A special train from Athens, Ohio, to the Prison, carrying a wholesale jail delivery occurred here Thursday night. Seven prisoners escaped by sawing their way through the roof of the county jail. The remarkable part of the whole matter is that Charles Taylor, awaiting trial for the murder of his wife, came back Friday morning and gave himself up. Eli Foster, awaiting trial for the murder of Dan McGuffey, went home and visited his friends through the night and came back Friday morning, and knocked for admission to the county stronghold. The sheriff, with his posse, is scouring the country for the five who are out.

The robbers, it is reported, made their escape, leaving one of their number dead. Great excitement prevails.

About twenty children were trampled on and crushed on the stone steps of the building, but it is thought that only one received fatal injury. The flames were soon extinguished with a loss of $100.

KILLING OF HENNESSY.

How the Chief of Police Was Assassinated.

NEW ORLEANS PEOPLE EXCITED.

The Bravo Officer Shot from Ambush by a Party of Ignorant Dagoes Who Were Commanded to Do the Bloody Work by Some High Authority—How the Chief Incurred the Enmity of the Revengeful Italians.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 17.—The assassination of Chief of Police Hennessy has created the profoundest excitement known in New Orleans for years and called forth threats of lynch law, vigilance committees, etc. The assassination, which was the worst ever known here, has aroused the people of the city to the fact that there is an Italian society in existence here which orders assassinations, and which removes all persons who stand in its way by murder. Some months ago a party of Italians were fired on as they were returning home about midnight by a gang of hired Italian braves. The trial of this case was to come up in a few days. Ever since the crime was committed Chief of Police Hennessy has been investigating the Italian vendetta in New Orleans and had secured evidence of the most sensational character as to the assassination of sixty or more Italians in the last twenty years. He declared his intention of breaking up the vendetta and putting an end to these murders.

A Deadly Enfilade.

He was warned to desist from his investigations, but he was a man of undaunted courage, who nothing could deter. It was decided that Hennessy should die and all the plans for his murder were arranged. Two parties of braves or assassins were chosen for the crime. These were stationed near where he lived—one party on Rampart, the other on Basin street—so that no matter which way he went home he could not escape them. It was a dark, rainy night, and Hennessy was carrying his usual revolver, and as he turned the corner where he lived a volley from several guns, which awakened the people for squares around, was heard and Hennessy felt himself wounded in the chest. He drew his revolver and fired at his assailants, but they fired on the alleyway where they were hid, until he dropped on a neighboring doorstep, riddled with bullets. When they saw him drop they came from cover and ran up the street. The other party at the next corner joined them and the gang, six or seven in number, ran down the street.

A Witness of the Murder.

Hennessy was found with six serious wounds, three of them through the lungs, half a dozen skin wounds, and nine other shots through his coat and hat. He was mortally wounded and died a few hours afterward but lived long enough to say that his murderers were dagoes or Italians. The assassination occurred in a well-settled neighborhood, and a number of persons saw the assassins, but were, except a Mr. Peeler, unable to identify them. Orders were at once issued to arrest all suspicious Italians found in the neighborhood, and before daylight nine of them were in jail, accused with the murder. The evidence was found. Three of the arrested men were identified by Mr. Peeler, the only witness of the murder, who lived opposite Chief Hennessy and saw the assassination from a side window. All the arrested men are Sicilian fruit dealers of the lowest type, men only recently arrived in this country, and who could speak scarcely a word of English. They did not know Hennessy, and were evidently sent to murder him by some high authority. The police think that they have the assassins, but the authorities are specially anxious to get the man who planned and ordered this crime in order to cover up many other crimes which Hennessy was about to disclose.

Bitter Feeling Against Dagoes.

A large crowd of persons gathered in front of the parish prison Thursday evening and as there was some talk of taking out the prisoners charged with the assassination the authorities deemed it best to take the precaution of guarding the jail thoroughly. A company of the Washington artillery was accordingly stationed there. The crowd, however, dispersed without attempting any violence. A very strong feeling was shown against the Italians and some of the latter deemed it advisable to take a trip out of the city until the popular excitement against them cooled somewhat. Hennessy was only 32 years of age and had been a member of the police since he was 12. It was he who captured the famous Italian, Organio Esposito, in this city some years ago and turned him over to the Italian authorities and this may be in some way connected with his assassination.

Shot One of the Assassins.

At noon Friday Thomas H. Duffy, a newspaper carrier and brother of Prize Fighter John Duffy, called at the parish prison and asked to see Antonio Scodilli, one of the prisoners arrested in connection with the murder of Chief of Police Hennessy, for the purpose, he said, of identifying him. A keeper brought Scodilli in the corridor, when quick as a flash Duffy drew a pistol and shot the prisoner in the neck, inflicting a mortal wound. Duffy was arrested and Scodilli was conveyed to the hospital. At 1:30 in the afternoon Scodilli was in the act of making a confession or dying declaration when a Catholic priest, Father O'Neil, was announced. That out short the confession, and the dying man and priest were left together. As Scodilli's throat was swelling and his life fast ebbing away, it is feared no more of his confession will be made.

The Peters Failure.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 17.—A special to The News from Grand Rapids, Mich., says: R. G. Peters' big failure continues to be the principal topic in the streets and little groups of business men stand upon every corner discussing it. The exciting rumors of the solvency of the Fifth National bank caused a big run on it at 10 o'clock Friday morning, and a large crowd of anxious and worried depositors collected at the windows. Money was paid out as fast as called for, and the bank closed every one that all their money in the bank was safe.

THE SYRACUSE FIRE.

The Death List Numbers Six Persons—Condition of the Injured.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 17.—A visit to the hospitals Friday brought out the news that a majority of the injured in Thursday's hotel fire are making favorable progress toward recovery. Edward Nichols, of Dunkirk, president of the Brooks locomotive works; Lizzie Landgraff and Miss Walker, servants, and John Howlett, fireman, who are at the St. Joseph's hospital, are all doing well. The cases of Mary Linnan, Annie Campbell, and Mrs. O'Connor, servants, are still somewhat doubtful, though they have a fair chance for recovery.

Every One Accounts For.

Maggie Doyle, a servant, who sustained several fractures of the limbs, is progressing quite favorably, and it is thought will recover. Her clothing was on fire all the way to the hospital, and was smoldering when she was taken from the ambulance. Max Roseheim of New York, a guest, and Kate McLean, a servant, who sustained a bad loss for the purpose of the hotel fire, are both recovering. The hotel suffers from the effects of inhaling hot air and smoke, but will recover. Every one in the hotel has now been accounted for, and the death list remains at six: W. E. Harrod, Elizabeth N. J., and Anna Cummings, Bridget Doyle, Rose Padden, Rose Schwartz, and Mary Doyle, servants. The bodies of the last two are still in the ruins.

Politics in South Carolina.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 17.—The political situation in this state is further intensified by the indorsement of the Haskell independent ticket by the state convention of Republican negroes held here Wednesday night. This action of the negroes is a big boost for the independent ticket, but it means trouble. It has already fired the Tillamans all over the state, and such a virtual coalition of the Haskellites and negroes will determine thousands of Haskell sympathizers to vote the straight Democratic ticket against him. It is now war to the knife. United States Senator Hampton is to pour what oil he can on the troubled waters.

He said he was stealing a ride in the car with the young men and was penniless. He got $47, a revolver, and a silver watch.

According to Thomas Power O'Connor's Paper—Sequel of the Assembly of Prelates at Rome—Horrible Tragedy at Berlin Committed by an Italian Man—A Session at the Socialist Congress—The Tipperary Trial.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—The Star, Mr. Thomas Power O'Connor's paper, says it is alleged in clerical circles that the summoning to Rome of the four archbishops in Ireland is a mere formality necessary to the fulfillment of their duty of presenting themselves to the pope once every five years. Ireland, however, says The Star, does not regard their going as an innocent and harmless affair. The archbishops are commended to take with them their senior suffragan bishops. This indicates the pope's desire to assemble at the Vatican a representative council of the Irish Catholic church, and that an important move is pending, which becomes more significant when it is known that Bishop Croke of Limerick will be at the Vatican some time before his colleagues arrive there.

Time and again have figures been quoted from reliable tables to show that the Southern states get out as large a per cent of their vote as do some other states in New England, where there is no charge of suppression. And the man who will stop to consider for a moment must realize that the Northern fellows have taken steps to secure representation on a mighty slim consistency. The rule that will apply generally, after Mr. Porter's long string of errors is footed up, will be one representative to each 180,000 people. This is the rule that will apply wherever it is possible. The North will be the gainer of several representatives and senators thereby.
Idaho has less than 20,000 voters. The republicans make it a state and that act entitles it to three representatives in congress, one in the House and two in the Senate. Wyoming has about 17,000 voters, and by the grace of republican legislation this state will be entitled to a representative and two senators. North Dakota is another state that is equally fortunate; and following along in the same line is Montana.
These four states will have a representation of 12 in congress; and eight out of that 12 will be found in the senate of the United States, a place where a very small number weighs heavily. It is said there are single congressional districts in the South that will poll almost the vote of those four states.
The idea of writing this now is not to enter a complaint, for life is too short and there is too much to be done to waste any time in growling about what can't be remedied. Those states are now born and admitted to their majority it is a piece of work that can't be repealed. But we have a right to ask that, while this glaringly disproportionate representation stands, nothing be said about any case that is presented from the South. You would look a long while in any Southern state before you could find a place where 10 times 17,000 voters secured a representative and two senators. There are no Wyoming downs there, and it there were one it would have to remain a territory for many years to come. The North certainly has more than a little the best of the representation, and so there is wonder why this old story is being kept up. There may have been some sense in it at one time, but it will stand the plain test of mathematics to-day.
THE REP TELLS US THAT "the democratic governor of Ohio has found it necessary to call a special session of the legislature of that state, to provide for depositing a lot of democratic office holders in Cincinnati who are robbing the people." Well, we have no time to investigate the Cincinnati case, but we do wish you would point us to a republican governor who is calling a legislature to fire some republican robbers. We always knew a democratic governor would use all means in his power to rid any community of robbers, whatever their political faith might be. But you are dealing in the business of furnishing news, and so it behooves you to rustle about and find a republican governor who is doing as well as Campbell.
Mr. REP, is not Mr. Mancke a laboring man, and one who in every place is found true to the cause of labor; yes, and that in a broad, manly and intelligent sense?
You will address yourself to that question, for it is the one the laborers, on farms and in the cities, are considering.
It seems that James Milliken's own paper is ashamed to give him editorial support. Has the president refused to get around and fix the manager? The president had better give the editor a furlough until after election day, and take to writing himself.
If D. A. Maffit doesn't produce more popularity within a few days, the republican central committee will have to ask him to withdraw in favor of Dick Harkness.

Cerro Gordo seems to have been blanned for having sent a crowd of toughs to Decatur Saturday night. This is all it should be. True the crowd got on the train at Cerro Gordo, but they were not residents of this place.

ing an officer, was held yesterday. The Attorney Hicks for the village. The jury

TO THE WIFE---OF HER HOME.

Mid pleasures and palaces wherever we roam,
Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home!
A charm nestles there for each tired, weary man,
If the furniture is bought on the easy payment plan
Of Scovill, Scovill---that's the place to buy,
Where you are always sure that the price is not high.

Now, if John Howard Payne lived in this age and day,
He would not have, homeless, kept wand'ring away;
For straightaway to Scovill's you'd see he would hie,
And all household goods he would easily buy
Of Scovill, Scovill, whose wide open door
Makes possible the purchase to rich and to poor.

Attractive and pleasant should home be to man,
We've shown you the way in the easy payment plan.
Your husband will say that beneath Heaven's dome,
Indeed and in truth there is no place like home.

ONE MORE DAY
Circuit Court will Adjourn To-Day Until the Next Term.

To-day's business in the circuit court will be the last for this term, and what is left on the docket will have to wait over. The term has extended through 19 days of business.

The results of yesterday's business are as follows:

PEOPLE'S DOCKET.

People vs. Jacob Page; assault with intent to kill. Plea of not guilty withdrawn, plea of guilty to assault to do bodily injury entered, and Page sentenced to one year in the county jail, and pay costs.

Page is the colored man who stabbed his wife with a shoe knife some time ago. They are colored people who lived in the south part of town. He has been in the penitentiary twice. The second time while he was in she got a divorce, but when he returned they went to keeping house together again, and lived there for some time. One afternoon she quietly got married to another colored man and moved to his house. When she went back to her former home in the evening to get her things, Page stabbed her with a shoe knife. She was believed to be hurt fatally, but finally recovered.

People vs. James Lee and William Brooks; burglary and larceny. Brooks entered a plea of guilty to second count, and sentenced to the penitentiary for three years. Note as to Lee.

Lee and Brooks were indicted for burglary and larceny for entering a room over Hae Singleton's restaurant and taking some clothes from it. Brooks assumed all the guilt, claiming that Lee had nothing to do with it.

People vs. Ute Davis; plea of guilty entered to petit larceny. Sentenced to 60 days in county jail and fined $1 and costs.

Davis is the colored boy who was arrested for stealing the money from a letter which he was given to mail at the St. Nicholas hotel. He tried to implicate Ed Potter, the hotel runner, but no indictment was found against the latter.

People vs. Charles H. Wilson; false pretense. Plea of guilty entered; defendant sentenced to county jail for 60 days and fined $1 and costs.

Wilson's crime was in mortgaging his property the second time. His wife was arrested when he was, but was not indicted.

People vs. George Owens; burglary and petit larceny. Pleaded not guilty, two cases.

People vs. James Smith; burglary. Trial by jury. Verdict of guilty, and sentence of one year in the penitentiary.

Smith was convicted of burglary from a house in the north part of town.

CHANCERY DOCKET.

Will Move.

The Y. M. C. A. is looking for new rooms. Its lease on the present quarters expires Jan. 1. The third floor, now used as a gymnasium, has been leased to Logan & Bick, who will use it as a store room.

The association has been looking for some time for other quarters, and has under consideration propositions to fit up rooms in different localities.

The association is now in better shape than it ever was. For years a load of debt has been carried. Now all of that which has not been paid is provided for, so that the new year will begin in new quarters and without any old obligations to meet.

Prostitution at Blue Mound.

At the last election Blue Mound went anti-liquor. For a time but a small amount of intoxicants were sold. Of late, however, there has been considerable drunkenness in the village, and people who know claim it is no trouble to get anything that is wanted. The town board has declared an intention of beginning a series of prosecutions that a hall rent in prohibition, and lively times are therefore expected.

In all large communities persons are taking an increased interest in property insurance, and insurance that will protect their investments by using Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, when they are first attacked with a cough or cold.

REVIEW--I notice in your Tuesday morning issue that some one writing from Sullivan says that I will soon begin the publication of an F. M. B. A. paper at that place. I wish to state that your correspondent is better posted about that than I am, if such is the case. I presume he is some political "shyster" who thinks that will cut some figure in the vote either for the farmers' ticket or the democrats. Head him off. He might write something sensational. FREDERICK TRAINER.

Bethany, Ill., Oct. 15, 1890.

P. Ulrich.

BLUE MOUND, Oct. 14.

EDITOR OF REVIEW--In the Sunday issue of your paper an article appears in regard to the case of Pharis Ulrich, which is totally incorrect, and a misstatement of facts.

In the first place, it is stated that his right shoulder has been swollen for several weeks as large as a gallon bucket. His shoulder would more than fill a gallon bucket if it not swollen, but it has been swollen from inflammation.

It is stated that he had become very sick. The fact is, he was taken very sick five weeks ago, and at the time Dr. Walston was called his condition was very much improved, the disease having become localized in his right shoulder. Secondly, it is stated that Dr. Harvey made a small opening in his shoulder Friday, which is false. Dr. Harvey made an opening in a small abscess which had formed in his shoulder about two weeks ago. This opening was, when made, three-fourths of an inch long, and into the abscess, and at the time was all that was needed, but the disease became much more extensive, and the old opening was not sufficient for thorough drainage.

In consultation, Drs. Harvey and Walston thought best to stop the abscess and put in a drainage tube. It was agreed by them to inject cocaine and administer ether. Dr. Harvey injected the cocaine and, after handing Dr. Walston his knife, began giving ether, but Dr. Walston, being in a hurry to return home by a train then due, did not wait for the ether to take effect but proceeded to enlarge the opening made by Dr. Harvey. He then thrust his finger into the opening, which gave Mr. Ulrich such pain that he began screaming and his wife tried to stop him. Instead of stopping until the ether took effect, he proceeded to probe the abscess with his fingers and to make another opening, regardless of Mr. Ulrich's screams and intense suffering. He then pushed in the drainage tube and apologized to Mr. Ulrich for hurting him so much.

Mr. Ulrich did not know that Dr. Walston had been called until he stood by his bedside, and Dr. Harvey had not been notified of his coming. He stated to Dr. Harvey that in his opinion Mr. Ulrich would recover, and agreed with him to continue the treatment he was then on.

ONE WHO WAS PRESENT.

The Work of Universalism.

Rev. Sophie Gibbs, of Decatur, gave an instructive address at the recent annual convention of Universalists, held in Englewood.

The address is published in full in The Universalist. Her subject was "Our Work in the State," and the speaker gave a very comprehensive view of the work in general and especially in this State. The world is already reaping abundantly of the seeds sown by Universalism. A great work has been accomplished in sending forth a liberalizing, mellowing spirit, that has made its way till nearly all creeds have felt its influence and have been greatly changed. For over a hundred years Universalism has been a living witness of the truth, till its leaves are everywhere. It has uprooted many errors, showing the falsity of much that was called truth, but its best work is yet to be done; that of uniting all hearts in the single desire to bring the world to build up a spiritual temple in which all may work and all may worship. The world needs a religious faith that can stand side by side with science and feel no inharmoniousness; that can take its place in the world of traffic and business, and still afford and mould a perfect harmony of thought and deed.

Religiously, people are thinking and thought is contagious. There is being elaborated a higher, more rational and more reverent philosophy of religion. Many who under pressure of the old theology were atheistic now say "Verily God lives, spirit is supreme." So the seeds of truth have not been sown in vain.

Wabash Men Disabled.

Engineer Joe Zingroff is at his home on East Marietta street in a badly bruised condition. He was pulling a freight train on the St. Louis branch Thursday night. Between Mt. Olive and Litchfield the middle driver on the right side of the 481 broke off, letting the engine down and throwing connecting rods around in a decidedly unhealthy way. Joe jumped but landed in a clay bank. His right eye was closed entirely, his left eye was put in measuring and his whole right side was badly bruised. When first brought to Decatur it was thought he was seriously injured, but Dr. W. B. Hostetler, who attended him, found no damage that cannot be quickly and fully repaired.

P. K. Holderman got a big cinder in his eye yesterday morning. Dr. Hostetler took it out.

Not Like Others.

The Chicago Evening Journal on Sept. 15, 1890, said of the attraction that will be at the opera house next Wednesday:

"The Dear Irish Boy" differs from other alleged pictures of life and doings on the Emerald Isle, because its leading character is not a young, good-looking, sweet singing and good dancing, and green-eyed fellow with plenty of nerve. Mike Clutchee is the name of the "star" character, and Mike is not the kind of fellow one would care to be associated with. He isn't the dear Irish boy. The play is composed of a series of dramatic situations, and comedy scenes which follow each other in rapid succession. There's a murder, accusations, persecutions, and a sprinkling of good dancing and singing, the whole forming an interesting entertainment. Gus Reynolds assumes the role of McClutchee and does some effective work. George Timmons, as a brave young Irish lad who loves a pretty girl, is pleasing, and Ollie Evans makes a buxom Colleen, who is clever and graceful in dances.

Mrs. Herring Insane.
A trial was held in the county court yesterday afternoon to inquire as to the sanity of Mrs. Nancy E. Herring, wife of Charles Herring, of Macon. Religious excitement has so affected her that for the past two months she has been in a demented condition. The jury's verdict was that she is insane, and she will be taken to Kankakee for treatment. The jury members were L. E. Clark, Jacob Sine, J. N. Baker, William Schroll, R. H. Johnson, F. N. Haven, W. G. Sprout, Charles Walker, T. L. Antrim, A. W. Hardy, John C. Lohay, and A. M. Cetti.

PULLED THE GUN TOWARD HIM.

Carl Folkers Killed by the Discharge of a Rifle.
Carl Folkers lived about six miles southwest of Latham. Yesterday morning he started out in his wagon to gather corn on the ground he had rented and cultivated this year. This morning he lies at home, stiff in death. To-day his friends will gather in the little home, a few words will be said, and to-night he will sleep in his narrow house, six feet long.

Carl took a small 22 calibre rifle with him when he went for corn, and as the wagon filed, stood the rifle up in one corner of the wagon box, with the butt end on the bottom. It is known that he fixed the rifle that way, because his wife saw it when Carl drove up to the house, with a full load, about 11 o'clock. He stopped there, got a drink at the pump, and then drove on to the stable.

He had been gone but a few moments when the wife heard a shot. Half curiously, but still filled with a dread of she knew not what, Mrs. Folkers walked down to the stable to see what her husband had been shooting at. She found him lying on the ground, face down, with the rifle half out of his place. In the wagon. She stopped and turned over the head, but found death had been there before her, and left her a widow. The left eye was gone entirely, and in the socket was a bullet hole where the shot had entered her husband's brain.

The theory of the shooting is simple. Carl had undertaken to pull the rifle from its place in the wagon. His head was directly over the barrel, the hammer caught on the corn and the load was discharged.

The body was a horrible looking sight. Only the day before a cow kicked Carl over the right eye, bruising that side of his face. When he fell from the wagon, he struck a stone on the ground, cutting his lip badly. It bled freely.

Coroner Bandura was notified yesterday and went out to Latham in the afternoon. He drove down to the Folkers residence and held an inquest, impaneling a jury of neighbors. Only one witness was examined. That was Dr. Pope, of Latham, who testified briefly as to the cause of death. The verdict was in accordance with the facts given above.

Carl Folkers was about 40 years old, and leaves a wife and seven children in rather poor circumstances. This is his second wife. The first one died a year ago, and six months afterwards Carl consoled himself by marrying her sister. She had three children then and he had four.

The Same Old Dog.
Frank Shull has a dog that is about as well known as any dog in Macon county. A great many people who don't know Frank Shull know his dog. It has been written up before for some of its unusual performances, though it has never sought notoriety. A few days ago Frank and the dog went to a foundry to talk up insurance. That is Frank went for that purpose, and the dog went on its own account. While the master was talking, the dog saw something across the foundry that interested him and started for it. The molders had set up a great many moulds, and leaves a wife and seven children in rather poor circumstances. This is his second wife. The first one died a year ago, and six months afterwards Carl consoled himself by marrying her sister. She had three children then and he had four.

Said He Was Slugged.
Officers Kirkbride and Donahoe found a man in a barn behind the Finn & Delahanty block yesterday morning about four o'clock who was suffering from a sprained back and a bruised and cut face. He was so much under the influence of liquor that he was unable to tell much about himself then. Later he said his name was John Henry and his home at Niantic. He claimed to have been knocked down and beaten on Front street, and that he crawled from there to the place where he was found. His story was not believed, for he said he knew the three men who had beaten him, but would not tell who they were. If he had been beaten that way on Front street he could not have crawled clear to Broadway with out being discovered. He had been drunk all day and probably fell down some stairs and hurt himself. He was sent to Niantic yesterday afternoon.

Wabash Improvements.
The Wabash roadbed, buildings and equipment are in as good shape as those of any railroad in the country. Everything is kept in first class order all the time, and besides that more money is spent for permanent improvements each year than some of the pretensions as the Wabash spend in 10 years. Three of the best improvements to be made by the Wabash this year are mentioned here.

At Custer Park the entire substructure of stone work under the bridge over the Kankakee river has been rebuilt. The men are just finishing it this week. The cost will be about $25,000.

At Edwardsville the substructure of the bridge over Cahokia creek is being rebuilt, at a cost of about $19,000.

Next week work will begin on extensive additions to the Wabash freight house and offices in Chicago, near Front street. Both will be enlarged and repaired. The cost will be about $15,000 and $20,000.

Y. P. S. C. E. Reception.
The Baptist Christian Endeavor society gave a reception last night to Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Torrey, of the University of Chicago, on North College street. Over 100 were present, and all had a delightful time, as any company does that is entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman. During the evening music was furnished by the Freeman trio and by a quartette made up of Charles Wood, Allie Bower, Frank Bunn and Bert Gher. The refreshments were furnished by the young people. Quotations were used in a novel way to decide how the company should be paired at supper. The quotations were distributed indiscriminately, and when a young man found a girl with a quotation like his, he knew that he was to escort her to the table. It was 11 o'clock before the young people could leave for home.

A Great Record.
A couple will be married in Deatur tomorrow night that in some ways entirely beat all records. Their names are William M. McClain and Mrs. Augusta Henderson, and each of them has been married once before. That would not of itself be unusual, were it not for the age of the parties. He is but 18 years old and she is but 20. It is unique among the Macon county licenses, and even the county officers were startled.

LOOKS LIKE MEAN REVENGE.

Grant Bell's Sad Experience With Cisco Toughs.

The people of Cerro Gordo had a whack at some Cisco toughs a few days ago and fined them heavily, too heavily some thought. They are wishing now for a chance to give it to the Cisco gang even worse. Grant Bell is a quiet, inoffensive young man who has been plastering at Cisco for two or three weeks. Report says he never gave offense to any one. He, however, is the son of Constable Bell, of Cerro Gordo, who arrested the gang the other day.

Thursday night, at Cisco, Grant, with a dozen or more other young fellows, was in Tower's barber shop. It was proposed that the crowd adjourn to the town hall, where a veterinary surgeon was lecturing. Accordingly the lights were put out and all went outside, Grant coming toward the last. His feet had just left the door steps when a flying brick struck him on the head and knocked him flat. He got up and another brick knocked him down. That was repeated five or six times the only variation being that some of the toughs kicked him when he was down or pounded him as he was getting up.

When the assailants let up on him finally Grant was a sight to see. Face and body were covered with bruises and blood. His injuries will not prove serious, but he will be laid up for a few days.

So far as known the only motive for the assault on Grant was a desire to get revenge for what had been done to the Cisco crowd at Cerro Gordo. Whether that be so or not, there certainly seems to be a good chance for some zealous grand jury to do a little good work there that will meet the approval of every law abiding man in the county.

STRAY SCRAPS.

The Union street sewer has reached Eldorado street.

J. W. Sanner has bought Harry Sanner's West Main street grocery store.

The poll book was stolen from the corner of Calhoun and Edmund streets on Thursday night.

The sale of seats for the "Old Homestead," here on Thursday, begins Tuesday morning. Secure seats in advance.

C. R. Bacon in advance of Rose Coghlan, is at the St. Nicholas. His company will be here the last of this month, and will probably play "Peg Woffington."

Architect Starbuck is preparing plans at his Deatur office for the new Quinn chapel, an A. M. E. church at Chicago that will cost about $75,000. It will seat over 1,000 people.

Dr. Johnson, of Windsor, Ill., was here yesterday, looking up a location. He liked the outlook for Deatur, and may decide to come here. It might be suggested to him that if there isn't plenty of room for doctors we still need a few more drug stores.

More furnaces are sold in Deatur than in towns much larger. The people here have a go-ahead way about them that leads them to try anything in the way of improvement or progress. One firm alone sold 50 furnaces last year, and will do as well this year.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Alexander, at their home northeast of the city, celebrated the 30th anniversary of their marriage last night. Quite a number of their friends were present, including Mr. and Mrs. George R. Steele and their daughter, Miss Jessie Steele.

A Good Entertainment.

The Abbie Carrington opera company that give a good entertainment at the opera house last night deserve a great deal of credit. They had a very small house, in the first place. Just before the curtain went up, one of the gentlemen of the company appeared in front and stated to the audience that the advance agent had come here expecting to play on shares with a society, and failing to do that had not decided to give the performance until Thursday. Owing to insufficient advertising, therefore, the audience was small. Nevertheless, if the audience would take seats close together in the center of the house, the company would give a good performance as if it was in New York, or as if the house was crowded. The audience did as requested, and the company gave a very satisfactory entertainment.

There were only eight people in the company, but they all sang extremely well. The first and third acts of "Martha" and the third act of "Faust" were given in costume. There was considerable applause and several recalls. Miss Carrington sang the "Last Rose of Summer." Should she come to Deatur again she undoubtedly would have a good house.

Funeral of Joseph T. Gates.

The funeral services of the late Joseph T. Gates, who died in Orlando, Fla., and was brought here for burial, were held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 from the Christian church. The services were conducted by Rev. T. W. Pinkerton, and occupied an hour. Rev. Pinkerton's discourse was about 35 minutes in length and was very appropriate. The music was furnished by a choir consisting of Misses Maud Leffingwell and Ada Pritchett and Messrs. John Patterson and F. P. Roddy. There were two bodies of pall-bearers who assisted in the service. The first took charge of the remains from the house to the church and the other from the church to the cemetery. They were B. B. McReynolds, L. B. C. Leffingwell, James Cann, James Freeman, E. McNabb and A. P. Ross. From that point the service was in charge of the Odd Fellows, who conducted the exercises at the grave. The pall-bearers selected from their number were I. W. Ehrman, D. C. Moffitt, Daniel Moore, J. L. Peake, George Lyon and Andrew Shoemaker.

Mr. Yates formerly lived in Deatur and was well known here. He was a deacon in the Christian church.

Under the Seat.

A Dutch "bum," who smelted like a rendering works that wasn't well, got into the Short street station house last night, to the great distress of the other unfortunate already there. The Dutchman wanted to stay in the waiting room at the depot. He was first out there, but speeded back and crawled under a seat next to the wall. He was having a good comfortable snooze, but everybody was painfully aware of his presence, so that it wasn't long until the night police were waking him up. He walked over to Hotel Deatur, on Short street.

Bad Cases.

Three different cases of "misplaced confidence" on the part of young girls, have come to light for settlement in the courts in the last two days. Two of them turned up yesterday. One of them was a girl from Logan county, who was represented by Deputy Sheriff S. W. Clary, who arrested the young man and took him back to Logan county. It is likely that all three cases will be settled by marriage.

ADJUDGED INSANE.

The Monotony of Circuit Court Is Broken by a Humorous Case Yesterday.

There was a case in the circuit court yesterday that had some interesting features. It was the People vs. Nancy E. Smith on two indictments, one for assault with a deadly weapon and one for resisting an officer.

Several months ago Constable Dillehunt and Officer Brockway went to her house to serve a writ of election. She went for Dillehunt with a revolver, and was in a fair way to shoot him if Brockway had not taken the weapon from her. She was indicted some time ago but was not tried at the last term of court. She has been in jail ever since. Her case was called for trial yesterday afternoon, and as she had no lawyer, Judge Vail started in to appoint some one to defend her. He named Lee & Gray, E. S. McDonald and D. C. Corley, but she would have none of them and gave them a severe "roasting." Then Judge Vail appointed Miriam Richereek and she accepted him. Insanity was made the defense, and numerous expert witnesses were called, among whom were Attorneys James Lee and D. C. Corley, Marshal Mason and Constables Dillehunt and Weltsel. The jury brought in a verdict that she was insane, so she will probably be taken to the asylum before long. The case afforded considerable amusement to the spectators.

A NEW CITY DIRECTORY.

Charles O. Elbel Here to Begin Preparations at Once.

Deatur has been growing pretty lively the past few years. This fact is shown in one way by the suddenness with which a city directory gets old. Ordinarily a directory in a town of this size will last two or three years. The last one, and a very carefully compiled and complete one it was, too, was issued to subscribers only about a year ago, yet already it is becoming deficient. Charles O. Elbel, of Terre Haute, who has had a hand in issuing four directories for Deatur, arrived yesterday. He soon made up his mind to get up another directory at once. Five men will be here next week to begin canvassing. The books will be ready for delivery early in 1891. The new features added last year will be retained. In all respects, the book will be as good as the last one, and in some particulars it will be better. The reputation of the house that issues it is a good recommendation.

TRACK AND TRAIN.

D. J. Lucas of the Lackawanna line, was in Deatur yesterday.

Division Superintendent John Braut and Superintendent J. S. Goodrich went to Chicago last night.

J. H. Murray, traveling passenger agent of the B. C. R. & N., was looking up business yesterday in Deatur.

General Foreman Howard of the Wabash shops at Toledo, was in Deatur yesterday. He left for the east last night.

Passenger Agent Tom Kennedy of the St. Louis & Hannibal railway was here yesterday on his way from St. Louis to Chicago.

Coupon tickets are being put on sale at a number of offices on the T. H. & P., where they have not been sold before. Increasing business makes the new agencies necessary.

M. W. Osborn has sold his restaurant near the depot to Thomas Wyatt and has gone to East St. Louis, where he will be employed as a night car watchman for the Wabash.

John Fagan, formerly in the T. H. & P. office here, has lately been appointed traveling freight and passenger agent for the Ohio Valley railroad, with headquarters at Evansville, Ind.

St. Louis Republic: A correspondent of The Republic at Wabash, Ind., telegraphed yesterday that the injunction case of the Wabash company against the Erie had been decided adversely to the Wabash. This now appears to have been incorrect. The case involves the Wabash's eastern outlet from Chicago, and if by any chance the decision, which is expected within a few days, should go against the Wabash, that company will at once establish a new route from Chicago via Deloit, which, although a little longer than the present one, will be good enough to make rates by and less agreeable to the Chicago east-bound lines than the present arrangement.

Prohibition and Tariff.

The prohibitionists held their opening meeting last night at the W. C. T. U. hall, W. E. Mann introducing the speaker, Robert Phillips, who spoke for an hour on the general issues of the campaign, although he did not give his regular speech on the tariff, as he would have done had he had a more political audience. He touched upon several phases of the tariff and gave a stirring talk. Mr. Phillips, who has made a study of the tariff, will probably give his regular speech later.

He was followed by Elder Hawes, who made a half hour talk upon points of interest in the present campaign.

The meeting before the close assumed a business turn and the importance of a campaign in this township and city, and the general opinion prevailed that the township committee ought to be more active.

Richard Bacon's Funeral.

This afternoon at 3 o'clock will occur the funeral of Richard Bacon. It will take place from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George R. Bacon, 135 West Eldorado street, the services to be conducted by Rev. T. W. Pinkerton assisted by Rev. M. D. Hawes. Friends of the family, desiring to view the remains, are requested to call between 10 and 12 o'clock in the morning.

Cancer of the Nose.

In 1876 a sore appeared on my nose, and grew rapidly. As my father had cancer, and my husband died of it, I became alarmed, and consulted my physician. His treatment did me no good, and the sore grew larger and worse in every way, until I had concluded that I was worse from its effects. I was persuaded to take S. S. S., and a few bottles cured me. This was after all the doctors and other medicines had failed. I have had no return of the cancer.

Wm. M. T. Maben,
Woodbury, Maine County, Maine.
Suffered from Cancer of the Nose, which was cured by S. S. S., and he has no return of the cancer.
